Sessions Topics covered in the session: The session starts with walking through the Sentinel SVR&PP process. We take a look at the different delivery methods Sentinel can consume (web, SmartDevice, Email & API). It is the first time the process gets a chance to demonstrate the power of using the API, which is done through their website. It's quite fascinating to see how quickly you can fetch your pricing and then get a product from different countries and change your delivery methods on the fly. We also get to learn how they try to compete with the pricing on other platforms. We leave this section with a live demo of the API in action. After that we talk about sending email campaigns to some SMTP servers like your own mail server. We look at how to find the correct settings in production. Get to see some screenshots of the mail campaign we implemented. We go through best practices and security in general and end up signing off at the office looking at a built-in rule that ensures SSL is always on. Topics covered in the session: The Sentinel SVR&PP process receives a package including a solid install of XACML.
